

The Anchor Bay Campground, which is in south-facing Fish Rock Gulch between Gualala and Point Arena has a number of conservation and outdoor education programs going at present. These include stream restoration to encourage a more robust steelhead population and providing responsible guidance to fishers and divers and their families. This sign, that gives information about the Federal Marine Mammal Protection Act, is displayed on the ramp to the beach adjacent to the Campground.

The ABC management will be glad to display whatever signs suggested or provided that will educate our campers on the importance of protecting all birds, mammals and other wildlife.
